

The New Boston Farmers Market is very pleased that “La Cascade du Chocolat” will be returning this Saturday as a full time vendor. Their sweet bonbon boxes were a hit along with their decadent chocolate bars and iced drinking chocolate.

Are you interested in solar power, but you felt it has been out of reach due to the high up-front cost and long payback periods? Stop at Solar Up New Boston's information/signup table to find out about their first launch workshop in early July.

The market's three organic farms continue to offer a variety of produce, plants, maple syrup, and other items. “From the Garden Table” will be returning with their delicious jams and jellies. Free samples are available from our honey vendor as well as our cheese vendor, but plan to get to the market early if you're hoping to purchase a loaf of homemade baguettes or some of the sweet cookies and whoopie pies as they almost always sell out!

If you're looking for unique gift items or looking to pamper yourself, you'll not want to miss “Karen's Jewelry” and “The Healthy Porcupine” handmade soaps.

Tom Carlson will be performing on the gazebo this week and later in the month you'll hear from Band of Bobs, Bob Baker, and Sandy & Bill.

Purchase your raffle tickets for the two beautiful handmade quilts created by Members of the Piscataquog Quilters group and The Joe English Grange.

Our small friendly ambience makes a visit to the market a perfect way to start the weekend. Relax while shopping, catch up with friends and tap your feet to the music!
